

EASTMAN SCHOOL OF MUSIC A SELF-GUIDED TOUR

EASTMAN
SCHOOL OF MUSIC
UNIVERSITY of ROCHESTER

1. Kodak Hall at Eastman Theatre

Completed in 1922, 2,260 seats

Opulent Kodak Hall is the primary concert hall for Eastman's orchestras, wind ensembles, jazz ensembles, and chorale. It also is the principal hall for the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra. In 2004, the first phase of a major renovation project replaced the stage and improved acoustics for concerts, opera, and other performances. In 2009 over 800 seats were removed to allow wider aisles, the addition of box seats, and the expansion of the lobby. The impressive chandelier is a focal point of the space. It has 20,000 individual pieces of crystal and weights approximately 5,000 pounds!

3. Kilbourn Hall

Completed in 1922, 455 seats

One of the finest chamber music halls in the world, it was named in honor of George Eastman's mother, Maria Kilbourn Eastman. The hall is three stories high, decorated in Venetian Renaissance style, and well-known for its beauty, pure acoustics, and excellent sight lines. In the summer of 2016, renovations were made to the stage to improve accessibility. The seats, carpet, and lighting were also updated to enhance the visitor's experience.

4. Sibley Music Library

The largest academic music library in North America, founded in 1904. Holdings include approximately 383,000 cataloged books and scores, 100,000+ audio and video recordings, 600+ music periodicals, and the Ruth T. Watanabe Special Collections Department, with its collection of rare books and scores, American sheet music, and extensive archival holdings. With the support of two grants, Sibley digitized 20,000+ public domain scores, which are freely available via the University of Rochester's digital repository.

2nd, 3rd, 4th Floor—Miller Center

10. Cominsky Promenade

A popular meeting place for the Eastman community and the home of an impressive collection of portraits of former Eastman faculty members, from the earliest years of the school to the present day.

2nd Floor—Main Building

11. The Annex

Includes faculty offices, classrooms, and more than 100 practice rooms. It also has two rehearsal halls and is the home of the Eastman Ensemble Library.

7. Howard Hanson Hall

Completed in 1978, 65 seats

This hall is named after the famous American composer, conductor, and music educator, who led the Eastman School from 1924 to 1964. This recital hall is in constant use for recitals, master classes, studio classes, and lectures, and features an acoustically isolated warm-up room and self-service stage, lighting, and recording equipment.

4th Floor—Main Building

5. Schmitt Organ Recital Hall

Completed in 1978, 96 seats

The Kilian and Caroline Schmitt Organ Recital Hall houses a custom-built Van Daalen organ. In 2000, the instrument was fully restored by the Dobson Organ Company.

University of Rochester

The University of Rochester was established in 1850, and is considered one of the nation's distinguished research universities. Eastman students enjoy the added advantage of belonging to the larger University of Rochester community. They can pursue their interests in non-musical arts and sciences by taking classes at the University's College of Arts, Sciences, and Engineering or its graduate schools of business and education. Some students design their own programs of integrated disciplines by earning minors or even second degrees at the College.

The University's River Campus, on the tree-lined east bank of the Genesee River, and its world-famous Medical Center, are only three miles from the Eastman School. Full-time undergraduate enrollment at the River Campus is approximately 4,600; full-time graduate students number approximately 2,900. rochester.edu
